B-2

1. A plot to assassinate Darnand and Fontenoy, Director of the OFI, was recently thwarted at Vichy. Rooms in a hotel overlooking the Hotel du Parc had been rented by a Colonel Gans, formerly of the Deuxieme Bureau and by M. Maseliere of the OFI. A suitcase containing hand-grenades, two sub-machine guns and a parabellum was found in one of the rooms. Arrested, Maseliere and Gans confessed. Forty persons connected with the OFI, Radio Paris and Radio Diffusion Nationale were also subsequently arrested. Five hundred others are under suspicion.

2. Following a clash at Treignac between the Militia and the Maquis, a certain number of the Militia were killed. Darnand and members of his organization who hastened to the scene of action were met by a visibly hostile population. The inhabitants of Treignac, by act as well as word, made their hatred of Darnand and the Militia clearly felt.
